

Hello concerned citizens of Mount Raven,

The following topic could be frightening and worrying, but please keep calm.

I know these days will be very stressful and even life threatening but I need you all to listen carefully!

As Jesse Williams delivered me the news from Mount Raven, sun with cloudy periods can be expected in the morning. I know we all want to have July weather again, with 30 degrees sun but we have to stay strong and be patient as a community – together we can surface every obstacle.

From a subjective point of view, the weather is not satisfactory, but the temperatures rise from two to six degrees by noon during the day. The acceptance of this information on these problematic conditions regarding the weather, which meteorologists have handed down to our citizens, must first of all be assumed for the cohesion between politics and society.

Several parents are concerned about their children's health, many people do not want to set a foot outside anymore and people are freezing, in worst cases even to death, due to the bad weather that will drastically worsen overnight – temperatures will drop to minus seven degrees!

Do not panic by this new information, but there is a 20% change of facing snow in the next few hours. Although we all seek sunny weather, we have to get through these times first.

In such exceptional situations, we all have to stick together and cooperate. The government has agreed to bring food to people's front door, provide all winter clothing and blankets and provide enough accommodation in hospitals and public buildings for this catastrophic situation occurring right now.

As we have seen in Russia, not many years ago, in 2012, where more than 600 people died due to a cold wave back then that lasted over a month, we can all agree that this situation is very serious!

Many crazy people and lateral thinkers would now say that the weather is ideal for skiing after the many flurries that will occur in the following days.

But I can only give you my heart and confirmation: do not do this under any circumstances! Not only do you want to endanger your health by doing this at minus twelve degrees, but they also want you to put the lives of your relatives, children and neighbors at risk.

I have made it my task and my purpose in life to get you all safe through this global crisis.

If you all follow my instructions, I promise you all are going to be secure and happy after this obstacle.

Stay home, stay safe and stay cool as good as you can!
